

ALCYONE AND NEGATIVE EMOTIONS

Lecture by Samael Aun Weor

Since the year 1962, the 4th of February, between two and three in the afternoon, the Age of Aquarius or the Age of the Water Carrier began.

There occurred an event that you might have recorded within your memories. I am referring to a congress of worlds or planets, which was gathered precisely under the constellation of Aquarius. Truly, this was a heavenly traffic jam. This was an encounter of worlds.

There were two eclipses: one of the Sun, and the other of the Moon.

Many years before, we addressed such a cosmic event, and even gave the hour in which it would occur. We judiciously asserted that such a cosmic event was going to take place on the 4th of February, 1962, between two and three in the afternoon (this is a concrete fact that actually occurred).

For twenty years we repeated the same facts. So, when the event finally came to pass, when this cosmic phenomena occurred, none of the sisters or brothers of the International Gnostic Movement found this to be something new. They only came to corroborate what we had addressed with much anticipation.

A congress of worlds such as the one that took place in that year, day, and hour does not happen every day, but only when a new era begins. Therefore, facts are facts, and we have to surrender before these factual events. But, this is not all: from the date already mentioned, something else is going to occur.

We already know that Aquarius is an era governed by Saturn and Uranus and this is completely revolutionary...

In Alchemy, Saturn is allegorized by the black crow, that is to say, “the return into the original, primeval chaos.”

In regard to Uranus, it is perfectly demonstrated that it is one hundred percent revolutionary, catastrophic.

In relation to the stars, there are events, there are phenomena, that are worth knowing about.

Much has been said about Alcyone, and this invites us to reflect. Once, while in the superior dimensions, I had to converse extensively with him. I then verified that he is truly an Adept of the great White Fraternity.

He greatly mentioned the star Alcyone, and also referred to Krishnamurti. In some way, he associated K.M. with that star. This is profoundly significant.

The star Alcyone is a very fascinating sun. Many other suns rotate around that sun.

We have been told that the Sun that shines upon us is the seventh sun that rotates around this star Alcyone. Naturally, this would not be admitted by the wise men of official science, but we, the esoterists, do not ignore the reality concerning the significance of that great sun.

A great organization of worlds exist around Alcyone. There are seven suns and each one of them shines and gives life to its own planets and its satellites (which rotate in their respective orbits around each one of these suns). We cannot deny that our Sun has its own group of worlds or planets that it shines upon and gives life to.

When one comprehends the form in which these system of suns are organized and how they rotate around their gravitational centers, one then advances greatly in the field of knowledge.

The Pleiades have been cited by the sacred scriptures, by the Bible, and by many esoteric teachings. Alcyone is precisely the principal sun of the Pleiades, and around it seven suns gravitate (our sun being the seventh one which rotates around Alcyone).

Each sun is the center of a solar system, and Alcyone is the center of seven solar systems.

This invites us to a brief reflection.

Let us remember Saturn with its rings of stones, meteoric sand, or rocks, etc. Those rings are limited exclusively to Saturn. But, it is good to know that Alcyone also has rings. These rings are larger than those of Saturn. Rather than being made up of rocks, meteoric stones, and other distinctive materials such as the rings of Saturn, Alcyone's rings undoubtedly form one sole thing and are radioactive. These rings are constituted of radiation.

But what type of radiation am I referring to? Simply, to that radiation that is the result of the fractionation of an electron. The fractionated electrons liberate energy, a type of energy that some authors call "manasic." This term is Sanskrit and in some way is related to the Inferior Manas (inferior mind) and with the Superior Manas (superior mind; Manas is the Sanskrit word for mind).

So, these electrons liberate a type of unknown energy.

Obviously, if the intellectual animal (mistakenly called human) could disintegrate the electrons as he disintegrates the atoms, then a catastrophe would be provoked, that not only could affect the tridimensional world of Euclid, but moreover, could affect the Sephirothic regions of Hod (the world of emotions), or Netzach (the world of the mind), and perhaps even Tiphereth, (the world of natural causes). Thus, these regions could suffer great damage.

If any foolish terrestrial scientist could disintegrate the electron, then he would obtain a different type of energy, different from that which results from the fractionation of the atom; it is an energy more terrible than the energy of the H-bomb or any other deadly element.

Fortunately, scientists are not capable of fractionating the electron in order to take advantage of the energy enclosed within it.

On Alcyone, the cases of fractionation (the destruction of electrons) does take place. This phenomena liberates a type of unknown energy, an energy different from cathodic rays, x-rays, or N-rays.

It was in the year 1974 when three astronauts (who were gravitating around the earth) reported a type of radiation or a type of unknown energy, unsuspected by official science.

Obviously, since 1962, specifically since the 4th of February of the cited year, our planet Earth (and the whole solar system in general) has been in the momentum of entering within the astonishing rings of Alcyone. Such rings extend themselves across many light years; they are immensely huge.

So, in a given moment, our solar system will enter within Alcyone's rings. Very few are they who suspect what will happen.

Paul Otto Hess states that if the Earth enters into the rings first, it will appear as if it were a great bonfire, like a pictorial light of firecrackers.

But, if the Sun is the first to enter (which the calculations that are being made seem to indicate), such radiation will interfere with the solar rays and as a result darkness will endure for 110 hours; after this, everything will resume normally.

The difference between the second aspect from the first of this phenomena is that instead of everything appearing like a great bonfire, what will occur is that the whole Earth will be covered in darkness, but in reality it will not be darkness, for everything will be saturated with lights.

For example, it is like a meteor shower (shooting stars) upon the face of the Earth; after its conclusion, everything resumes as normal.

Nonetheless, the Earth, already within the rings of Alcyone, will be submitted to a very special vibration.

The molecules, whether they are of iron, phosphorus, calcium, copper, nitrogen, carbon, starch, etc., would be completely modified due to this radiation. This signifies, as you can see, a change in matter.

The men of science believe that they know matter, but in reality they do not.

The concept that they have about matter is nothing more than a concept.

Matter as substance is unknown to physicists.

I am not saying that merely physical matter cannot be destroyed, but the substance itself, that famous Iliaster that reposes within the profound darkness of the abyss or bottomless space during the great cosmic night, is indestructible. This is unknown to modern scientists.

Atoms offer many surprises that the men of science, of nuclear physics, do not even remotely suspect.

Within their interior, the atoms carry that which the Hebrews call “igneous particles,” “hashim” or “igneous souls.” These igneous souls are formidable. Without these igneous souls, atoms cannot process themselves within the living constitution of matter.

Therefore, in reality, no one truly knows the power, for instance, of a few grains of sand. We can be sure that nobody knows the power that is enclosed there, or what it is capable of doing.

The hashim or igneous souls are enclosed within each atom. The great magicians of the east know how to work with these igneous particles of the atoms. In any case, the atoms are impelled by these igneous particles, which are obviously suspected by modern scientists.

Therefore, do not take this following assertion as a strange statement: the igneous radiations or vivifying radiations of the atoms of Alcyone will come to alter the molecules of nature.

Once this radiation envelops the Earth, it will be tremendous, so tremendous that there will be no night for a duration of two thousand years. The whole Earth will be enveloped by this radiation, and in order to see, the light of the Sun will not be necessary. This radiation will illuminate even the deepest caverns, and for two thousand years there will be no night, but only one complete day without night.

Thus, this is how it is written, and the best wise men agree with this.

Obviously, what we are emphatically affirming today will not be accepted by the men of science. In no way will they accept this statement, simply because this does not commune with their scientific talents. But, this is a reality.

The organisms of all beings will be modified, plants, animals, etc.

Many plants that do not exist today, many species of animals whose germs are latent in the bottom of the ocean or in the rocks or in the most remote mountains, will be vivified by this radiation, and will consequently come into existence.

This event happens every ten thousand years. It happened before, and will happen again, because this phenomena obeys heavenly transit. Our solar system has to forcedly pass through the rings of Alcyone.

Some people might say that Alcyone is very far, that it is related to the Pleiades and that it has nothing to do with our solar system. It is very appealing to speak in this ignorant manner.

The reality is that the Sun that shines over us forms part of Alcyone; it is the seventh one. It is a sun related to a system of suns which rotate around Alcyone.

This formerly cited event will process or will endure for two thousand years.

The radiation of Alcyone's rings exercises a specific influence upon the rotation of our planet. This signifies that the velocity of rotation over its axis will be slower, and as a consequence or corollary, our world will continue to rotate around the Sun in a wider orbit.

The planet Earth will become a little more distant from the solar center.

The verticality of the axis of our planet with respect to the elliptic will be a concrete fact.

The poles are melting due to the deviation of the axis of the Earth. This has already been demonstrated. Today, the magnetic pole no longer coincides with the geographical pole.

The deviation of the poles will be precipitated with the tremendous radiation of Alcyone.

The Count of Saint Germain said, "The seasons of spring and summer will be the first to be altered." This spring (1977) has everything, but nothing that belongs to spring. We have to tolerate cold weather while in spring. Also summers have not been the same; it seems that these seasons are going to disappear.

The poles are melting, and with the radiation of Alcyone, this melt down will be precipitated. The ice will invade the whole north and south; only the equatorial zone will be tolerable.

A new glaciation is coming!

The Earth has already suffered from previous glaciations, and a new one is coming.

The cold weather that occurred in the United States a while ago was like nothing experienced before.

When is our planet Earth, or better if we say our solar system, going to penetrate within the tremendous rings of Alcyone?

When will we start passing through this ring, which every 10,000 years we have to pass through?

Not a single scientist can predict this. Really, it is unpredictable. But since the year 1962, we are in the momentum of penetrating within it. So, do not be astonished if from one moment to the next we will penetrate into the rings of Alcyone.

I point to the facts: the astronauts who in 1974 were in orbit around the Earth are the ones that gave us the information about a strange type of radiation.

A terrible change in Nature will come, this is obvious: the submergence of the present continents and the emergence of new ones, etc.

But the limit of limits will happen with the arrival of Hercolubus.

The event of Hercolubus is preceded by the entrance of our planet Earth into the rings of Alcyone. This is when we will comprehend that physical nature is not always the same.

If you believe that physical matter, the matter that compounds our world, existed always with the same mathematical formulae, then you are completely mistaken. Matter was distinct in the Polar, Hyperborean, Lemurian, and Atlantean epochs. Now, when we cross through the rings of Alcyone, the mathematical formulae will completely change.

Example: as a result of this radiation, the elements that today are working for medicine will become obsolete.

The formulae for animals will be out of order.

The knowledge of contemporaneous physics will be the laughing stock of all the world.

Everything that is being taught in modern chemistry will become useless, because chemistry will change its formulae within a few years, upon the entrance into the radiation of Alcyone.

Once again we will evidence the Law of the Pendulum.

We are starting the new cycle of transformations that was initiated on the 4th of February, 1962, between two and three in the afternoon, in spite of what the stubborn people might say. But we always refer to the facts.

There has never been a more grandiose concentration in heaven like the one on the 4th of February, 1962.

Let us then not be surprised that from one moment to the next our solar system will enter within the rings of Alcyone. We must prepare ourselves now.

Many will not resist the radiation and will die!

Physical matter will become more radioactive, more fluorescent, and this will in some way be helpful for our spiritual work.

It is clear that we must review our daily conduct. We must become more reflective, more careful with our critical judgements, and especially very careful with our negative emotions.

When we are in the very field of psychology, we find many disorders within people.

Everyone is being dragged down by negative emotions, and this is very grave.

There is nothing more harmful for profound internal development than negative emotions.

When you are assaulted by a negative emotion, you must express the best that is possible within you during that event. If a negative emotion has arrived, for instance, a negative emotion of envy that is eating you up, down to the very marrow of your bones, then try and display a very harmonious behavior, not in favor of envy, of course, but in favor of your neighbor's good.

If an emotion of anger is shaking us up, then speak with an extraordinary sweetness, and instead of being upset with the one that has hurt us, speak well of this one who has offended us. Thus, we will not be hurt internally.

It is not an easy task to express good when one is feeling a negative emotion. But it is only this way that it must be.

If we have an emotion of resentment because someone has been bothering us, then let us speak with love and in favor of the one who has bothered us.

It is clear that we must not remain on the surface. We must eliminate those undesirable psychological elements that from moment to moment produce within us negative emotions of anger, envy, hatred, lust, pride, etc., etc. At the very least, we must eliminate the psychological aggregates that have produced these negative emotions. Thus, we will not be hurt.

Unquestionably, this physical world of forty-eight laws is in the momentum of entering into the rings of Alcyone. So, everyone is being shaken up by negative emotions and nothing could be more contagious than these emotions.

There exist bacteria and viruses, there is no doubt of this.

Bacteria originate many types of sicknesses. This has already been demonstrated in the test tubes of the laboratories.

In regard to pathogenic viruses, these are infinitely small and therefore more dangerous. Let us observe, for instance, the virus of cancer. Even though some might think that its isolation has still not been achieved, we have to inform you that in Israel the virus has already been isolated. We do not know with which name this virus was baptized.

We baptized this virus with the name "Cancro" and we have spoken about this extensively before. It is so tiny that a powerful electronic microscope is necessary in order to study it.

Regardless of the fact that these viruses are so tiny, they become more dangerous and more contagious.

Nonetheless, negative people, victims of negative emotions, become more contagious than viruses and bacteria.

Grouchy people, who are always filled with envy, who are always obnoxious at any given moment, people who are filled with morbid minds at any given time, people who suffer deliriums of persecution, who say they are bewitched, who say that are hated by everybody, are negative and infect the groups; they infect others.

In our work, we isolate such people. If they do not comprehend, if they feel upset and think that we do not love them, they are mistaken: we love them, and through this way we are insinuating that they must become positive, amicable, and magnetic. We offer them the opportunity to study our wisdom, but we isolate them in a certain way because they are dangerous for the groups.

A negative person can infect other negative people, and if this person dictates a lecture, then he infects thousands of people. They are more dangerous, thousand of times more dangerous, than viruses and bacteria.

There is the need to specify who the negative people are and which are the negative emotions.

It is not enough to say that such a fellow is negative or that the other fellow is not. There is the need to specify who are the negative people.

If a person is screaming, grouchy, and complaining all day, is this person positive or negative?

If a person is tremendously lustful and his life is processed by virtue of lust, if this person is full of frightful emotions and sees in each person of the opposite sex a sexual opportunity, what would we say about this person? If just a look from the opposite sex agitates him and that look is enough for him to be constantly with lust, what can we think of him? Obviously, he is a negative person, and of course this person comes to infect other people.

If a person goes everywhere from instant to instant with negative emotions, this person infects the whole world.

The angry ones who at any time are thundering and lightning infect other people with their anger.

It comes into my memory the case of a friend of mine who had the custom of placing his hands under the belt of his pants. So one day, a man approached him with a gun in his hand and asked him, “What’s the matter with you? Do you want to start something with me?”

Then my friend answered, “No!”

“So then why do you have your hands like that?”

My friend then answered, “It is a custom that I have, sir.”

The other person then said, “Ah well, excuse me, what happened is that I am enraged (with anger).”

Thus, this is an example of someone negative infecting the whole world.

People like this have to be isolated from groups; they do not understand or they do not comprehend that they are negative. They think that we do not love them, but we love them; what occurs is that they are infected people that interrupt the interior, profound development of the Being.

Behold, this is the grave part of this matter. Therefore, from a psychological point of view, it is necessary that we do not allow ourselves to be pulled in by negative emotions.

We have the longing of visiting or entering within the Sephirothic regions of space. One thing is to grasp a Sephira and another thing is to penetrate within it. Obviously, the Sephiroth are atomic and we, the Gnostics, must penetrate within the Tree of Life.

We must know that there are many Sephirothic regions within space; to penetrate within them is marvelous.

How are we going to penetrate into the Kabbalistic region of Hod if we do not have a psychological body? There exist psychological projections (Astral projections). The diverse psychological aggregates can, at any given moment, integrate themselves in order to penetrate within the Sephira Hod (Astral World, or First Heaven).

But this would only be a subjective entrance; this would not have objectivity as when the second body (Astral Body) has been created. This body has to be created in order to handle the emotions of this region. What type of emotions am I referring to? I am referring to superior emotions. The inferior emotions are an obstacle for experiencing what is Reality (God), and for the psychological development of the Being.

If we want to be born again, to create a second body, in order to penetrate into the Sephirothic region of Hod (the kingdom of heaven), then it is obvious that we should not torpidly waste our energies by letting ourselves be pulled in by negative emotions, such as violence, hatred, jealousy, pride, etc.

If the energies are wasted by inferior emotions, then with what energy are we going to create a psychological body? How is this going to be achieved if we are wasting the energies?

In order to create a psychological body (to be born again) it is necessary to save our energies.

In order to explore the regions of Hod (according to what has been taught, these immense regions are governed by ineffable beings, by solar beings, example: the Beni-Elohim or the Children of God who dwell within those profound regions) only the one who saves energies can penetrate into the profundities of Hod.

It would be impossible to penetrate or to have access to the mysteries of life and death without the Kabbalistic body of Hod. This is obvious.

Therefore, let us begin to save our energies. When a negative emotion is shaking us up, then it is worth knowing which psychological aggregate produced it. After having observed this aggregate (sin) in action, we must submit it to the technique of meditation, in order to comprehend and disintegrate it. Otherwise, how else are we going to do it?

What is most terrible is that negative emotions transform the human being into a liar. The liar produces a mistaken connection, because the energy of the Elder of Days (our Father who is in heaven, the Truth) flows harmoniously and perfectly throughout the ten Sephiroth of the Hebraic Kabbalah until reaching Malkuth (or the Kingdom), the physical person, or psycho-physical person.

The liar connects himself in a wrong way; he intentionally, with his negative emotions, produces a dislocation of his mind, and consequently, a lie emerges, which is a mistaken connection.

One can be a liar due to a negative emotion that transforms us into slanderers and liars, or one can be consciously and by will a liar. In any case, these are negative connections of the mind with the superior centers of the Being. A dislocation of the mind with the superior centers of the Being is produced (therefore, we do not perceive things in their true sense).

We have to say the truth always, at any cost, and no matter what. To say the truth and nothing else but the truth is the crude fact of this matter.

So, negative emotions transform people into liars.

The karma of liars is monstrosity: children who are born with two heads, deformed children, are like that because they have been connected in the wrong way with the superior centers of the Being. These souls were intentionally and continuously lying in their past life. Therefore, they come into their new existence with a deformed body. Behold here what a lie is.

We must pay much attention to this matter.

When one has created a second psychological body, which permits us to enter within the Sephirothic regions of Hod, one can evidence by oneself what a lie is, falseness.

Michael is the one who is the regent of such a Sephirah, and it is obvious that He marvelously shines within this region.

So, how are we going to explore those regions if we are liars, if we are victims of negative emotions? It is obvious that we cannot.

How are we going to explore the regions of Netzach if we do not correctly connect ourselves with the superior centers of the Being?

It is necessary to create a psychological Mental Body in order to explore the regions of Netzach (Mental World), otherwise it is impossible.

No one can create a psychological Mental Body if they allow themselves to be pulled in by negative emotions. There will not be enough energies in order to create this individual mind, which would permit us to explore the psychological regions of the universal mind.

So, in order to explore the regions of Hod and Netzach, it is necessary to utter the truth and nothing but the truth, and no person can say the truth if they are being pulled by negative emotions.

We need to obey the Father who is in heaven, and those who let themselves be pulled by negative emotions are not obeying the Father. The Father is the Truth and nothing but the Truth. So, in order to obey the Father who is in heaven, the psychological connections must be perfect. One must harmoniously and correctly learn to connect oneself with the Father who is in heaven.

The one who has also has created a body of Conscious Will has done so by having learned to obey the Father.

All of us have the Elder of Days within our depths, mentions the great Kabbalist Schimeon Ben Jochai, but few are those who know how to obey the Elder of Days.

One cannot obey the Elder of Days if one does not do the will of the Father. One does not do the will of the Father who is in heaven when one lies. The will of God the Father is not fulfilled when one allows oneself to be pulled by negative emotions.

Therefore, beloved readers, it is necessary to learn to live wisely. It is necessary to self-explore, to observe ourselves better.

So, we are now going to enter into an extraordinary epoch. The great selection has begun. Not all of this humanity who populate the face of the Earth will serve as a seed bed for the coming sixth Root Race, which will populate the future world.

Once this planet Earth is within the rings of Alcyone, then all we the workers of the Great Work have been stating will become evident.

The Tree of Life is the spinal medulla. This Tree of Wisdom is also the ten Sephiroth, the twenty-two creative Major Arcana, letters, sounds, and numbers, with which the Logos (God) created the Universe.
